HOW UNPLEASANT.
It is so a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are lashed and scolded in all such cases, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gas-ete.

Mrs. James A. McKersie passed through the city yesterday afternoon en route to her home at Oak Grove from Paducah, where she has been residing. She relates thrilling experience in South America. If you are thinking of purchasing land, and he will take pleasure in furnishing full particulars.

ON THE FLY. HAS RESIGNED.

In the sparkling moonlight that dotted the large lawn on which the Grange Hall is erected the folks of Casey, on Saturday night, participated in a pleasant picnic; and late in the evening a cake walk was held in the hall. Twenty or more Hopkinstonians people attended the entertainment. Among the guests were Dr. Anderson, Prof. Thomas and lawyer Frank R. etc., of this city. The latter was the first prize, with Dr. Anderson a close second. The "booby" fell to the lot of Tom G. reed.

A young Casey couple eloped to Clarksville Saturday night and were joined in marriage. The groom is a young farmer, Mr. James White by name, and his wife was Miss Kate Claxton. There were no previous objections to the wedding, and the party of the bride, save the girl's many male admirers.

Mr. Eli Bively, a well-known and well-liked farmer, who lives a few miles south of town, celebrated his eighty-first birthday Saturday by having a family reunion. All the children, grand children and several great-grandchildren of the gentleman were present, and the day was one of pleasure.

Rev. John O. Rust, formerly of this city, preached the commencement sermon for Berea College, yesterday morning, and the press speaks highly of the address. His theme was "Seeing the Unseen."

There have been countless better actors than Kate Putnam, who have played in this city, but none more popular. It may interest some to know that she will star next season in a play written especially for her by the author of "Old Kentucky." Miss Putnam will make a Southern tour this year.

Monday was a typical court day and the scenes enacted on the bench reminded one of a chapter from a novel describing a county fair. The crowd that gathered near the court house was simply immense. In a room of twenty yards half a dozen people were trying to arrest the crowd's attention. Judge W. P. Winfree held a commission's sale and talked for half an hour and heard himself called to the same order. Only a few yards away Hon. Polk Casler was selling stocks in a country road. Near him a horse man who was trying to dispose of several animals, the virtues of which he proclaimed in loud tones; and just across the street, on an inverted goods box, stood an auctioneer knocking down the fastest bidder. Half a square of a beautiful preacher shouted to the people to come up and be saved; and a little more than the distance of a pole vault from the tavern and saloon of religion, a negro in the employ of a soap seller sang ear-splitting songs.

A paper purporting to be the last will and testament of the late Thomas Terry was offered for probate in the county court Monday. As the will is being contested, it was laid over to the first Monday in next month.

The graduating exercises of the Hopkinston Public Schools will be held at the Union Hotel, Thursday, June 13th, at 8 p. m. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion, and it may be confidently expected that all concerned will see it themselves creditably. A small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged for the occasion. No extra charge for reserved seats. Announcement will be made in due time as to time and place of sale of reserved seats.

The board of supervisors raised the tax lists of many property owners, and a wall of distress has gone up from some of the rich men. The board reports that the taxable property of the city of Hopkinston is $2,577,000, and 2,489 females; 2,226 males, and 2,270 negroes. The city is 525 white males; 531 females; 433 negroes; 485 negroes. The city census shows an increase of 40 white and 35 negroes.

The aggregate number of school children in the city and county is 1,818. This represents an increase of 100 over last year. The amount of labor and is very valuable. By a reasonable estimate the population of the county, based on these figures, is 57,750 people.

STARR MUST TALK.

The Tax Levy Fixed at $1.50—Other Work.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Monday. The most interesting feature of the session was a motion to the effect that Jesse W. Starr be served with a citation to appear before the council at the special meeting called for the 18th inst., and to satisfy the board that he is ready to complete the water-works contract existing between him and the city. On Starr's failure to produce proof of his willingness and ability to comply with the terms of the contract, immediate steps will be taken to make the contract null and void.

A reference to the contract will show that Starr has signed fully to keep his part of the agreement. It is doubtful that he will be able to show that he can complete the contract. There are others who are ready to put in a plan.

The council allowed the usual accounts. The tax levy was fixed at the same amount per capita as that of last year, one dollar and fifty cents, divided as follows: For general purposes, seventy-five cents; for interest and sinking fund, thirty-five cents; school purposes, twenty cents.

DREW A CROWD.

Bang! Went the Parson's Gun.

WEDDINGS IN THE STATE.

It happened Wednesday night and was merely a case of attraction. The black martins were drawn to the cluster of heavy felled trees in the lawn of the old Grange property near the O. V. station; the birds called out "R. V. W. Mitchell and a double barrel shot-gun; the frequent explosions of the weapon brought a large crowd to the scene. A satisfied preacher was attracted by the gathering and taking the middle of the street as a pulpit began shouting words of warning to the wicked.

"Fire, starters," said the sanctified preacher, "fire from the wrath to come. G. ye and bathe in the fount of every blessing and—bang! bang! bang! Went the parson's gun.

The next few sentences of the street altar were lost in the reports of the weapon, the yells of small boys and the whirl of frightened martins flying swiftly to places of safety.

"You won't hear me now, sinners, but the time is coming when you'll wish you were coming. Yes; and be a good man, when all true pleasure lies in things spiritual. Look you at me, I have but little money, but I glory in God, I've got inward peace, and that is better than silver or gold. Ah! my—"

Bang! Bang! Bang! The birds had settled again in the trees, the yells of small boys had ceased, the martins had pulled the triggers. Not in any way disconcerted, the man of the sublimely appended appendages edged a little closer to the crowd and proclaimed: "War is coming. Yes; and be a good man, when all true pleasure lies in things spiritual. Look you at me, I have but little money, but I glory in God, I've got inward peace, and that is better than silver or gold. Ah! my—"

The last remarks of the man who called sin were heard by only a few degrees, general I'd have been glad to see the crowd and were too lazy to either move or talk, and to do a job of work who could speak it he wanted to.

The preacher didn't answer his own question, for nothing but small and unappreciative was his audience. He pulled his hat down to his ears, and went on with his empty looking pockets and airily slid slowly down the street.

Invitations have been received in this city to the wedding of Miss Mary Ella Lewis, formerly of Hopkinston, to Mr. Richard S. Whitney, of Boston, Mass. The ceremony will be performed at the Methodist church on Sunday, June 10th, at 4 p. m. The bride will be the daughter of Rev. J. M. Lewis, at one time pastor of the church here. Mr. Whitney is a wealthy man who is connected with the wedding tour will be a trip through Europe.

There were wedding glories in Paducah yesterday. The well-known Charlie Hinkle married pretty Miss Annie Hart; Miss Blanche Myers was wedded to W. L. P. Fingler, of Louisville; Mr. Ed Clark and Miss Lela P. M. Sanders and Miss R. A. Smith were married on Saturday night, and three other couples, more or less popular, were conspicuously linked.

Our South Christian correspondent files in the following item which is of interest to the people familiar with a certain wedding that will take place on the 14th inst.

Hello, there, neighbor? What about those paper hangers and painters? We are watching you. Your time is coming soon, six days, and we'll see you at Lufsey-ette? Or else play on the piano and the other bones the cake. Now kind friend whom will you take?

Mr. Rue C. Cooksey, of Louisville, and Miss Cora Louise Bacon, of Bowling Green, were married yesterday morning by Rev. J. W. Sagg, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate members of the family and a few friends being present. Mr. Cooksey left on the 9 o'clock train for Louisville, their future home. Mr. Cooksey is a well known newspaper man of Louisville, and his bride is one of Bowling Green's most attractive and best-known and popular young ladies.
